Mass Meeting Of Churches Of City At Cathedral Sunday Evening

Greatest Church Effort In City's History Sunday

Celebration Of Pentecost To Climax In Mass Meeting In Cathedral.

IMMENSE CHORUS CHOIR WILL SING

Expect Auditorium To Be Taxed To Limit For Evening Program.

New Castle will see what will probably be one of the greatest religious services in the history of Western Pennsylvania, when on Sunday evening, June 8th, Pentecost will be observed by the churches of New Castle in a mass meeting in the Cathedral. Pentecost will be observed; the 1900th anniversary of the founding of the Christian church, and by eight o'clock, the time for opening, every seat in the Cathedral will probably be filled.

The meeting goes far beyond any mere mass or religious meeting. Back of it is a history of 1900 years of Christian progress, nineteen centuries of adherence to the doctrines of the Christ, and for this outstanding meeting here, the Right Reverend Warren Lincoln Rogers, D. D., Bishop Coadjutor of Ohio will deliver the Pentecostal sermon.

The meeting in the cathedral will be the culmination of a day of religious observance. In the morning, churches will observe special programs, with record crowds anticipated. For the mass meeting the churches will combine in this impressive gesture of religious observance and it is

Summer officially starts two weeks from today. June 21 is the longest day of the year.

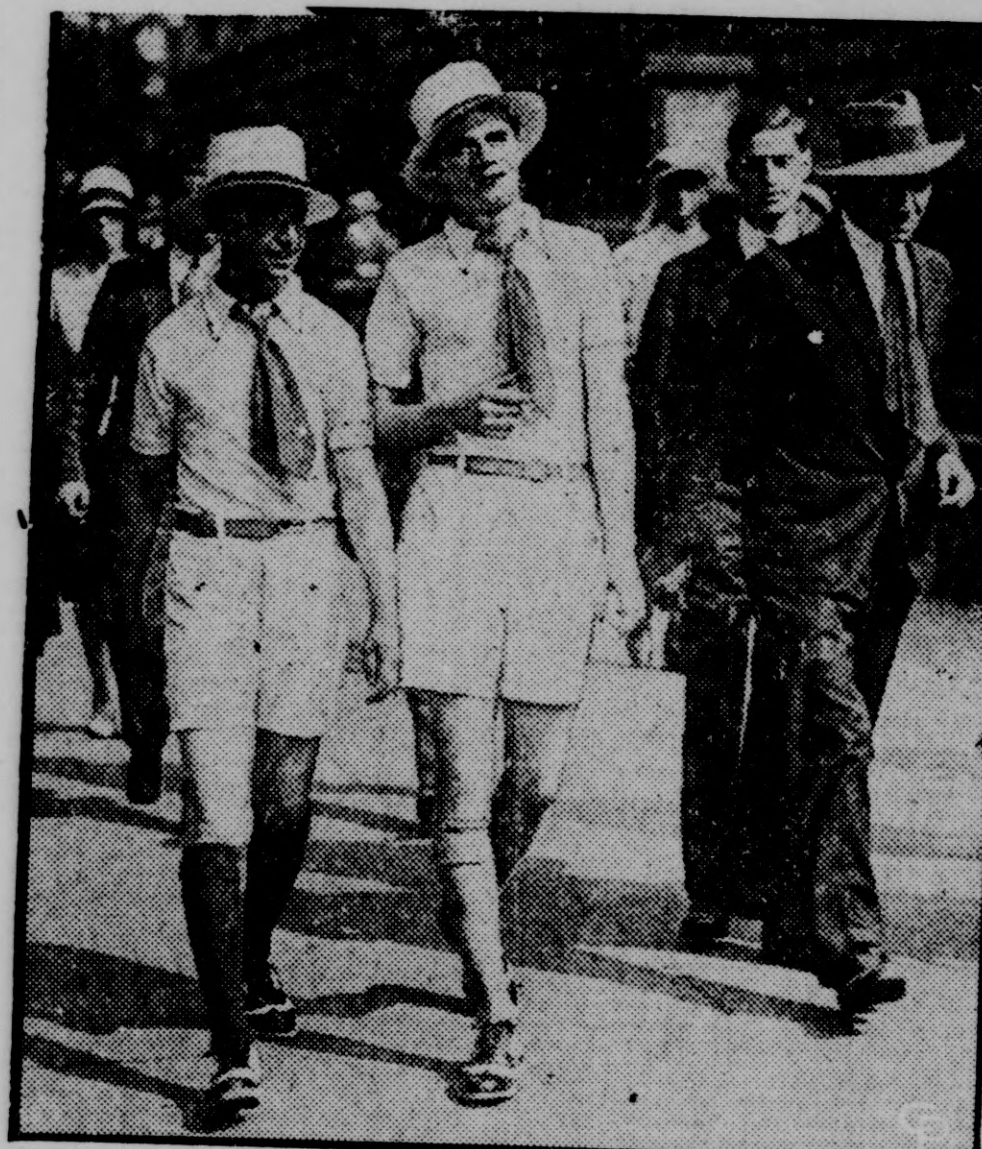

Tomorrow is the 1900th anniversary of Pentecost and an extraordinary effort is being made to secure record church attendance in the city tomorrow, also at the mass meeting in the Cathedral in the evening.

Soldiers Bloc Now Threatens To Hold Senate

Threats Made By "Soldiers Bloc" To Prevent Early Adjournment Of Congress

SEEK ACTION ON RANKIN MEASURE

Would Extend Until January 1, 1931, Time For Filing Compensations

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 7.—With a weary Congress already fearful of the tariff warfare prolonging its session indefinitely, threats were made today by members of the "soldiers' bloc" to prevent adjournment until the Rankin World War Veterans bill becomes law.

Convinced that a plot already has been concocted by administration leaders to defeat liberalization of the veterans' law, Rep. Rankin (D) of Mississippi announced that every possible weapon would be used to insure its success.

Report Is Delayed
The bill has passed the house and the Senate Finance committee has voted to report it, but the report is being delayed.

As adopted by this committee, the bill extends until Jan. 1, 1931 the right of veterans to demand compensation for disabilities due to chronic diseases, the disability to be presumed to be the result of World War service. This enables thousands of veterans, who cannot prove that their illness originated while they were in the army and navy, or because of it, to claim War veterans benefits.

Administration leaders have fought the measure on the ground that it would cost $150,000,000 to $300,000,000 a year and cause a treasury deficit.

Playing throughout the evening was the senior high school orchestra, under the direction of Prof. J. F. Replogle. As the opening number it played "Zampa Overture" by Harold, following which the invocation was delivered by the Clifford S. Joshua of the Croton Methodist church.
Seated along the front row of the platform with Principal Frank L. Orth, Dr. C. C. Green, Rev. Joshua, Dr. Clyde Xander and remaining speakers were the honor students of the graduating class upon whom special honors were conferred by the high school and various civic organizations during the exercises.

Coalition Seeks Debenture Plan For Tariff Bill

Democratic-Insurgent Coalition Will Demand Debenture Plan Be Included.

DELAY SEEN IN FINAL VOTING

Administration Leaders Worried As Senators Reed and Grundy Oppose Bill.

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Threat of a new fight for inclusion of the export debenture plan of farm relief in the administration's highly harassed tariff bill today disturbed the happy expectations of administration leaders to pass the bill through Congress next week.

The Democratic-insurgent coalition was expected to make a final effort in the senate for inclusion of the debenture. This could be done only by returning the bill to conference for the third time, with instructions to the senate conferees to propose the debenture. Originally the senate adopted the debenture by a nice margin but later voted 43 to 41 to release its conferees from further defense of the plan. It was immediately dropped from the bill.

The revival of the debenture fight will not delay passage of the bill unless the senate has changed its mind again. If it should support the debenture, it would delay the bill for several days, since the house has twice rejected the plan.

Reed-Grundy Opposed.
Of more real menace was the report that the administration would

Valley Shippers Plan To Protest

Shipping Interests In Mahoning And Shenango Valley Prepare Protests

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, June 7.—Plans were being whipped into shape today for a joint protest by shippers of the western Pennsylvania district and shipping interests of the Mahoning and Shenango valley sections on the ruling of the interstate commerce commission abolishing certain circuitous rail routes in this district.

Consolidation of forces of the shipping interests will result in a united backing by the shipping concerns of the protest to be made by western Pennsylvania carriers against the ruling.

A hearing on the case is to be held in Washington, June 17. Western Pennsylvania carriers claim that discontinuance of the existing routes, as prescribed in the commission's order, would result in retardation of traffic by requiring interchange of loads between long and short haul lines.

A delicious menu was served by a committee comprising Mrs. Harry Preston, Mrs. H. D. McGoun, Mrs. B. F. Butler, Mrs. John Foster, Mrs. Jesse R. Cooper and the hostess, Spring flowers and a variety of pastel hues were tastefully used in the decoration of the table.

The Bishop Walks Out.
Mr. Rockefeller Advises.
Mr. Ford Visits Mr. Curtis.
Brain, Money vs. Babies.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1930, King Features
Syn. Inc.)

Bishop James Cannon, Jr., Thursday declining to answer the Senate lobby committee, walked out, disregarding orders to remain.

Senator Walsh called it "an open case of contempt."

Another case of contempt sent a well-known old man to jail.

But any lobby committee would realize that an old man playing the races is different from a bishop "playing the stock market."

John D. Rockefeller lives quietly, plays golf, leaving men younger than 91 to run Standard Oil. But he keeps track of the world and when he advises he advises wisely. Much wisdom was condensed into the few words he said to a player in his four-room, "deberate" and "talk less and play better." That is a good "how to succeed" recipe.

Henry Ford, going to visit Cyrus H. K. Curtis, arrives just in time to read an editorial published by Mr. Curtis, that will surprise Mr. Ford.

It says:

"Prohibition reform is going over. And, 'Nothing can stop the growing intent of the people of the United States to preserve the good of the experiment, noble in motive, but to end its unexpected and unnecessary evils.'"

Henry Ford has said that if prohibition went and beer came back, he, Mr. Ford, would close his factories, because men with beer can't work fast enough to keep step with modern machinery.

Cyrus H. K. Curtis also owns modern, rapid machinery. He and Mr. Ford might have an interesting discussion, if they could get their minds off advertising.

Young ladies, graduating in a college for women are urged by the Rev. Dr. Robert Parrish to "be brain and money women."

We owe much of education, science and art to rich men, says the Doctor, and must not "despise wealth."

No tendency to despise wealth is visible in this country. But many still maintain that the "brain and money woman" is not as desirable as the "charm and baby woman."

The boy that invested one dollar in a derby lottery and won $149,000, "split the money three ways." His brother got $35,000, he kept $35,000 and gave his father $79,000.

There was no quarrel. Each felt that he was getting about all the real money in the world.

Everything comparative. Many men in the United States would call the total $149,000 "not worth thinking about."

British mountain climbers abandon the attempt to conquer Kanchenjunga, and transfer attention to another mountain in Asia called Jonsong, 24,300 feet high.

In proportion to size the Jonsong peak is not as high as one of the little rough spots on an orange.

Infra-microscopic creatures climbing such an orange "peak" would equal the achievement of any human climbers. We climb or fly up, less than one-thousandth part of the earth's diameter, and praise ourselves.

Gen. Atterbury, head of the Pennsylvania Railroad plans a Chicago to New York train to make the run in 14 hours, doing 90 miles an hour by electric power.

If Pennsylvania engineers have planned it, the thing will be done undoubtedly.

Archives will make the run in three hours before very long, and a slight change in transportation methods might bring on the earth's surface a speed of 150 or 200 miles an hour.

The Yale Daily News says half the undergraduates are guilty of cheating at examinations. And such cheating, according to the Yale News, is "a matter of amusement to the faculty."

It ought not to be a matter of amusement, and the faculty denies the charge.

A student who cheats in examinations, would consider himself disgraced if he cheated in sports or at gambling.

Why go to college if your brain is more important than your legs?

A New Jersey admirer, nominating Mr. Morrow for the White House, called him "another Wilson." Exactitude that nobody will ever know. Successful men learn to keep their thoughts to themselves.

Public Gets A Hearty Laugh From "You Go And Fry" Hoax

Curtailed Of Careless Eulogies In Public Life Is Expected By Country As Result Of The Affair Of Hugo N. Frye

Public officials who were duped into sounding high praises for the mythical pioneer "Hugo N. Frye" by a group of Cornell students provided the public with much merriment. Amused comment on the eulogies which were promptly forthcoming on the supposed anniversary of the city's authorities, the situation in the schools is very sad. The country had a good laugh out of the hoax, and that the perpetrators deserve commendation, not censure.

"A great opportunity was missed" by each of these public men in the opinion of the OMAHA WORLD HERALD, which explains: "If any one had replied, 'Who the heck was Hugo N. Frye? I never heard of him,' his name would have been honored throughout the land." The ROANOK TIMES think the outcome "would have been different if they had been brave enough to reply that they had never heard of Hugo N. Frye and doubted whether any such person ever lived." The SCHENECTADY GAZETTE holds that "it would be far better to have maintained silence."

The obligingness of distinguished folk" concludes the ALBANY EVENING NEWS, "in answering letters of this kind got them into trouble. But it only goes to prove that anybody and everybody can be hoaxed. The public and its leaders are just as they were in Barnum's time. And this is a democracy. Imagine any country in this way. Probably, however, these distinguished folk who were hoaxed will not again pay enormous tributes to the memory of those they never heard of. They will be frank enough to say they never heard of Mr. Frye or what his name may be used for another hoax. And this reminds of the old saying of Bill Nye that if someone were asked to speak on the innumerable of deforming hydraulic rams" he would immediately work himself into a fury over such inhumanity to hydraulic rams."

Another point of view is represented by the ST. PAUL PIONEER PRESS in the suggestion: "After all, the hoax might be turned back upon the hoaxers by challenging them to prove that there was no Hugo N. Frye and that he did not entertain views from which Republicanism might have grown. The time may yet come when the historic halls of Cornell will provide a niche for his statue and a bronze tablet to the 150-year-old memory of this hypothetical gentleman."

The WORCESTER TELEGRAM holds that "he is as real as a lot of other 'founders' in politics."

"The joke on the authors of the encomiums is doubly enjoyed, because the higher they come, the harder they fall," states the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR, and that paper remarks: "The ease with which the playful editors of a humorous column in the Cornell Sun obtained glowing tributes from leading statesmen to the memory of 'that sturdy patriot' Hugo N. Frye is not surprising in this day of stultification. It is probable that the request from the editors for a kind word regarding the gallant party work accomplished by the late Mr. Frye merely passed through the routine course. If these young men in New York were paying honor to that pioneer Republican, Hugo N. Frye, who would ever think that in reality no such person as Mr. Hugo N. Frye existed?"

"The two bad boys" remarks the NEW ORLEANS MORNING TRIBUNE, "may be rebuked or something by the university or somebody," but that paper "thanks them for a needed snicker."

The MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL gives the advice to the Cornell Sun, under whose auspices the celebration was held: "Do not be discouraged. Scientific scholarship is quite often a matter of trial and error. Nothing attempted, nothing achieved. At worst, the question of the birthplace of the Republican party is back where it was before the dinner was held."

"It is altogether likely as the matter is viewed by the MEMPHIS TRIB

Pheasants At State Farm Are Arriving By Thousands

Young pheasants by the thousands are arriving daily at the Jordan State Game farm, one mile from Harlansburg. Several hundred bantam hens are being rewarded, by the peeps of baby pheasants, for their patient setting of several weeks.

One thousand pheasants were hatched on the 27th of April—the first of the season. A thousand more came on April 31 and another thousand on the third day of June. A fourth thousand arrived at the game farm yesterday.

More Every Three Days
Every three days, according to H. J. Sines, who, with his son, are in charge of the farm, one thousand small pheasants of many varieties will be hatched. By the 15th of this month, there will be 7000 new pheasants at the game farm. That is as many as are planned for, at this state farm, this season.

As the little ones are hatched, they are divided into groups of twenty and are put, with mother hens, in coops that are arranged over several acres of the farm. There are 500 of these coops in all. Just about two thirds of the total number of coops will be used this season.

Each coop covers a space of ground of a length and width of approximately 3 feet by 2 feet. The coop is clean and neat in appearance, and furnishes comfortable quarters for the hen and her strange little wards. The little ones can run around at leisure, and seldom wander very far from their "homes". They are similar to chicks in appearance, but can be seen to be very much different upon closer observation. They don't act like chicks. They have an intelligent look in their eyes that a common chick could never have. They have a method in scratching their food. They are very, very proud of themselves and strut up and down in front of their home coops, with beaks held snobbishly upward.

Build Exhibition Pens
At the present time, the game farm officials are engaged in building about 25 large and roomy, wired-in cages, in which to confine the colorful Golden, Japanese, Vari-colored and Silver pheasants, so that visitors at the game farm may see all the birds of the gorgeous plumage more easily. The pretty birds have been confined in fields and pens over a wide area, making it a task for visitors to see them all.

The new pens are being erected along right side of a walk, all in a row.

At the entrance to the game farm, the newly constructed lake certainly adds to the natural beauty of the place. The lake has been given an allotment of trout by the Game commission, and it also contains a lot of frogs and tadpoles that came to the pleasant spot of their own accord.

Caliphs Enjoy Big Ceremonial

Large Crowd At Session In Cathedral On Friday Night

Those hardy lads who prescribe to the doctrine of the Caliphs of Baghdad had their place in the sun last night, or would have had, had their been any sun. Anyway they had their spring ceremonial in the Cathedral and like all Caliph ceremonies it was crammed full of action as a three inch shell.

From every county in the western tier, it seemed, there were Caliphs and with them, candidates who wanted to be initiated into the mysteries of the order that has grown and flourished in the past five years.

Chief Caliph Howard B. Richards had charge of the initiation, with Judy V. Sypher in charge of the entertainment. The Forty Thieves were present but conducted themselves honestly, due to the fact that everything was nailed down.

A crowd of about eight hundred attended the ceremonial which concluded with a Dutch lunch in the dining room.

Umbrella Injury Is Fatal To Man

Chicago Man Struck In Chest By Umbrella Tip Dies Of His Injuries

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, June 7.—A man, hurrying along through the rain early today, lowered his umbrella suddenly as an apparently drunken man lurched toward him. The tip of the umbrella struck the lurching man in the chest, and he staggered on.

The workman hurried on. Twenty feet farther along the lurching man collapsed in front of a restaurant. When employees of the restaurant reached his side, he was dead. The pointed umbrella tip had inflicted a fatal wound, just above the heart.

The other man walked on, apparently unaware that the umbrella had wounded the victim.

The body was taken to the county morgue.

THE TOWN DOCTOR

"DOCTOR OF TOWNS"

SAYS

IF YOU THINK IT WON'T, IT WON'T
About three o'clock one afternoon I sat in a barber chair in a town of about seven thousand population. Without warning a "guest" of the shop tossed aside the paper he was reading and said, "This Town Doctor dope may be all right for some towns but it will never do any good here."

I was all interest immediately, more so when someone asked, "why not?"

"Well, because it won't" replied the "guest" and turning to the barber who had me in charge asked "Will it Bill?"

Bill said, "I guess it won't," and went on shaving.

The door opened and a customer entered. The "guest" immediately demanded "Have you read what the Town Doctor has to say this week?"

The customer replied that he had, asked whether such would be of any value to the community, of which they were all a part, he replied "Well, I don't know if it will do any good here or not; but even if it did I don't see where it would get me anything."

"Me neither" agreed the guest, and the subject drifted on to something else.

As I stepped from the chair I addressed the "guest" with "May I enquire as to your line of business?" He appeared rather surprised but replied "I'm a carpenter, but I'm not work'n' at it now."

"Why?" I asked. "No work," was his answer.

I then asked the customer "You may think it strange, and none of my business, but what is your line?" "Foreman out at (naming a local factory) but they been shut down for three weeks."

I then turned to the barber and asked, "How's business?" "Slow, awful slow—you see things are pretty quiet here" to which I again asked "Why?"

I would like to give here the exact answers and remarks that these men made, but the New Castle News, being a good newspaper would not print it. Suffice it to say that the "reason why", according to them, was not their fault, nor had they anything to do with bringing about the condition, or correcting it the town and all the people in it except themselves, was "dead", and there wasn't any use to try to make it otherwise.

Towns are people. People are all more or less alike—as they think, so are they. And just as the most of the people in a community think, just so is the community. Let enough people think a thing is so, and it might as well be so; on the other hand let enough people think a thing is not so, and in course of events it will not be so.

These men in the barber shop, even tho' out-of-work and therefore devoid-of-pay, THOUGHT it would do no good to try to "build" and other wise make better the community in which they lived and worked; and as long as they maintained that view it wouldn't do any good. And if their opinion was the opinion of the majority of the people in the community it wouldn't do the community any good regardless of Town Doctors Articles, or anything else.

New Castle or any other community is just as good, just as "live", just as attractive as the MAJORITY of the people think it is. Business will be just as good as the same majority are willing to make it.

Quit thinking New Castle is dead, or that it won't do any good to make it better. Get it out of your HEAD that what YOU do, think and say won't make any difference. Get it into your head that YOU can make things better.

GET TOGETHER with others who have the same idea, and you can make New Castle what ever you WANT to make it.

If you think you can't, you can't. If you think it won't, it won't.

Shenango Foremen's Club Members See Electric Eye

Members of the Shenango Foremen's Club had an unusual program presented at their meeting Friday evening in the Assembly Hall of the plant, when H. B. Stevens of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company demonstrated the "Electric Eye." He also spoke on "Photo Electric and Glow Discharge Devices and their Applications to Industry."

Included among the jobs in which Mr. Stevens' automatic servants were the detection and instantaneous extinguishing of a fire, the counting of people, the automatic sorting of materials according to color and guarding against explosions in gas furnaces.

A lighted match as thrown into a tank of gasoline and kerosene on the lecture platform. The first cloud of smoke from the tank instantly operated the "photo-electric smoke detector," which in turn automatically released carbon dioxide from a cylinder and extinguished the fire before the audience could realize what happened.

Persons coming into the lecture hall were counted automatically as they crossed a beam of light which extended across the entrance. There was no need to "press the button" or for actual physical contact, for a photo-electric cell set up over the entrance counted every time the ray of light was interrupted. Mr. Stevens pointed out how apparatus of this type may be used for toll bridges, vehicular tunnels, or turn stiles, and for the counting of items in mass production, or detecting paper breaks in mills where machinery must be stopped instantly to prevent accidents.

Mr. Stevens brought out that the advent of radio, talking movies and television had been an enormous stimulus to an intensive study of vacuum tube devices, resulting in the invention of new tubes and improvements of others. The Westinghouse Company soon realized that these devices must have many other uses and therefore put much research and engineering talent on devising new means of applying them. These studies resulted in opening up new fields for their use in industry during the past two years.

Where arduous tasks of sorting have heretofore been dependent upon the easily wearied human eye, a mechanical process may now be substituted, thus releasing many workers for less monotonous tasks. More accurate than the human eye, the photo-electric cell responds equally well day or night, in hot or cold weather, the speaker said.

The use of this photo-electric cell was also demonstrated. A spot of light was made to fall on the surface under examination and reflected from the surface to the photo-electric apparatus. Small packages of supposedly uniform character were automatically moved past this spot of light. If one of them was without a label or was otherwise defective, it was automatically thrown out.

The demonstration was an unusual thing and brought before the eyes of the men some of the wonders of modern electrical devices. In addition to the demonstration, the meeting was in the nature of a farewell for Murrow D. Wells, who has been Woods Auditor of the plant but is now promoted to the General offices in Pittsburgh.

Bespeaks Esteem

D. S. Pyle, general manager of the Shenango Plant spoke briefly of Mr. Wells' service to the company and said in part, "there comes a time in our every day life when the best of friends must part. We have had in our organization for the past 12 or 13 years a man whom we have learned to love and respect, a man who has been an important link in our chain of success, a man who was willing and ready, day or night to do any of us a good turn."

"He has proven his worth to this organization not only to us here but to the executives in Pittsburgh. I consider him a wizard in his chosen profession. He will be missed by us and not alone by us but by the entire community. I refer to none other than our loyal friend Murrow D. Wells, who has been transferred to the General Offices in Pittsburgh."

Mr. Pyle then presented Mr. Wells with a travelling bag and a handsome golf bag as a token of the esteem in which Mr. Wells is held. After a brief message of appreciation from Mr. Wells, Herbert S. Christman, Mr. Wells' successor was introduced and responded with a few remarks.

The meeting was in charge of the president William Jones, with John M. Evans at the piano accompanying the pep singing. The Keystone Harmony Boys pleased with a number of quartet selections, and the Shenango String Quartet followed them. A lunch concluded the evening's program.

Veterans Get Time Extension On Compensation

President Hoover Signs Bill Extending Time For Applying Until 1935

LOCAL VETERANS
WILL BE BENEFITED

Date For Applying Is Advanced Which Enable
Many To Secure
Bonus.

Extension of the time limit for applying for adjusted compensation from 1930 to 1935 by President Hoover yesterday, will enable a number of local World War Veterans to secure their bonus who would have otherwise been barred under the old law.

The time limit for filing claims under the old Act of Congress expired on January 2, 1930 and many who were desirous of making application were automatically barred.

Application blanks are available at the offices of the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross for any veterans who wish to make application for compensation. Secretary
Orville Potter announced today, following receipt of the information that the new law had been signed by the president, and it is expected that a number of local veterans will take advantage of the opportunity to present their claim.

Fine Gifts Are Given By Two Ladies Of City

Encampment Committee Appreciates The Continued
Widespread Interest

Two additional gifts, entirely unexpected and for the sum of $100 each, are reported by R. L. Meermans, chairman of the Finance committee of the G. A. R. Encampment, as having been included among his mail. A few more such gifts will spell the success of the Encampment Fund, which has been placed at $5,000 by the general committee.

One of these very liberal gifts was that of Mrs. Mary L. King of Rhodes Place. It is a matter of much gratification to the encampment committee that this wonderful unsolicited gift has come to hand at a time when vitality needed.

The other of these gifts is from a lady, who also has at heart the success of the community in its effort to entertain the veterans of the civil war in a proper manner on what may prove to be their last encampment in Pennsylvania.

The committee feels highly honored that these gifts have been received, expressing as they do a confidence in the efforts of the committee to put the encampment over in a manner creditable to the Old Home Town and yet within reasonable expense limitations. It may be said with reasonable pride by the committee, that when the convention is past and a matter of history, that it was the generous support accorded it by the women of the city, that assured the success of the fund.

Those desiring to add to the fund
may send their gifts to Chairman
Meermans at the Y. M. C. A. Checks should be made out to D. D. Valenti, financial secretary, G. A. R. Encampment Committee.

No wonder the Germans held out so long. The movie of "All Quiet on dly any scratching was necessary on the German side.

The Parent Problem

Camp Life Educative For Child

Summer camps well conducted and supervised contribute mightily to good character education.

In the first place the camp takes the boy or girl away from home for a period long enough to learn to get on without the constant personal care of his loved ones. It gives him a sense of independence. Often there he must make decisions for himself and stand upon his own judgments and bear their consequences.

A headache is not popular at camp, and winning under a little physical pain is not the thing to do. It is the fashion to be well and strong and rugged. Health at the summer camp is motivated in a practical way. It is not the place to cultivate self pity and "to run to Mamma."

At the camp the child learns to adapt himself to others of his age, learns to defend himself and to take his own part. If he is very sensitive to small slights or hurts he will grow hardened. As he does he is preparing to escape from many a heartache and depression later. Through the jibes and jokes of his fellows he comes to think not too highly of himself, thought at the same time he is stimulated to work for self-respect and to command the approval of his comrades.

He lives at the camp with the kind of person he is most often going to come in touch with the larger portion of his life. There he learns to enjoy sports. He finds satisfaction in physical achievements and endurance.

Group games, group songs and ceremonies drag his interest from himself, turn them outward, make them social. By such activities he finds a healthy outlet for emotional expression and extends his personality, living more abundantly.

Reason he sees at camp in the necessary routine. He may dawdle over doing his toilet while at home, but at camp he won't. He picks up his clothes after himself, runs his own errands, washes his own dirty neck and ears. He learns to pass inspection and not argue. There he gets no exercise in word battles with a father or mother. He finds that it pays to recognize authority.

In very concrete ways he has training in ideals. Sportsmanship grows fashionable in camp and the campers have the opportunity to see this virtue operating. "Playing fair" reaches farther in the good camp than to games. It extends to nearly all items of activity and relationship.

Not all parents can afford to send their children to a summer camp. There are good camps not far from most big cities, which are not very expensive. Some of them are run by social welfare institutes. A few free camps are made available, moreover, for the poorer children. Too busy every child over ten or twelve could not have at least a month in a well conducted summer camp.

But suppose your boy or girl, having the opportunity, does not want to go to camp. In that event treat this matter as you treat school attendance.

Parents who plan ahead long enough and who don't let their children too closely to them will not meet with this problem.

New Anti-Pain Oil Works Wonders

Takes the Crick Out of Your Neck, the aching pain out of the shoulders.—In a few minutes.

This new discovery is a combination of eucalyptus together with essential oils, turpentine, Camphor, Capsicum and other valuable ingredients that is now being offered to the public under the name of "Anti-Pain Oil," formerly known as Snake Oil. It has proved to be an effective, agreeable remedy for aches and pains, chest colds, flu, coughs, etc. Thousands of sufferers are now being relieved by this new penetrating oil.

For rheumatic pains, neuralgia, crick in the neck, sharp shooting pains in the shoulder, stiff joints and sore muscles, apply freely to affected parts. For coughs or hoarseness take ten drops on a lump of sugar.

Peter's Adventures

MEAN MRS. MOSQUITO
"What a shame! Poor little Stickleback! Such a pretty little fish!" cried Peter. Again Brown Beetle took Snake's greed as a good joke.

"Watch Snake and then tell me you any longer wonder that I am always hungry. I was born that way."

"Well, what has Snake got to do with you?" demanded Peter.

"A whole lot," Brown Beetle nodded. "Snake is just such a grub as I used to be. Once upon a time I acted just as he does! Before Peter could say a word there sounded a shrill buzzing. Quickly he glanced around, but saw no one.

"Did you hear that strange noise?" asked he. "I may be mistaken—so many noises sound alike in insect-land, but I thought it was a mosquito. I hope I am wrong. The mosquito's no friend of mine. I should not care if I never saw the pesky creature."

"Pesky creature, indeed!" shrieked a tiny voice, shrill as a buzz saw. "I will make you suffer for that nasty remark. You are right! There is a mosquito nearby who for some little time has been trying to attract your attention. To tell you the truth at first I only wanted to ask you a few questions, but now that I have overheard your remarks about me, I shall make you suffer. Bzzzz! There! How did you like that? I have just bitten your ear, and if I do say it myself, I made a quick and good job of it. The spot is beginning to swell. I hope I have made you uncomfortable!"

"You have!" cried Peter, frantically rubbing his stinging ear. "Ouch! Why did you have to be so mean, mosquito? I wouldn't have said what I did! I had known you were near! But thinking over what you have just done how can you wonder that we humans hate you? This is the way you always treat us!"

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

TWO MILLION WELL SPENT
There's a bit of a thrill in finding out that the widow of Charles P. Taft has given the University of Cincinnati $2,000,000 to be used in the study of those things that emphasize "thought, conduct and character," rather than mere material advancement. Mrs. Taft explains that her gift is for study of the humanities. She means particularly literature, language, philosophy, and history. She says:

"Without wishing to lessen or to regard in any way lightly the great effort being put forth for material and physical betterment of mankind to which great funds are everywhere being devoted, I believe there is some danger of the lack of emphasis on the value of thought and conduct and character, and I have therefore contributed my gift to the humanities which are concerned with development of ideas of that character."

A WORLD OF NUTS AND BOLTS
It is good to know that somebody, somewhere in the world, is thinking of something besides "production" and nuts and bolts. Surely if life is ultimately worth living, it is more than a thing of smokestacks.

ROADSIDE BEAUTY
You may have read in this column the other day about the plans to grow flowers along the old Spanish trail leading from Florida to California. The idea of beauty on the roadside is taking hold of the imagination of thinking people. Are we not at all a little too good, a little too thoughtful to be forever content to ride through a never-ending succession of billboards, hot dog stands, weeds and ditches? Hasn't the hour in our civilization approached when we can begin to think a little less about speed and a little more about beauty?

BIG BUSINESS
Some so-called big business men think the rest of the world, with all comfort and all luxury, is dependent upon them and their high-pressure efforts. And surely the modern world does indeed owe an immense debt of appreciation to the legitimate forms of big business. But in the long run of the years the big business man never contributes much to civilization unless he learns to think in terms that reach far beyond his own shop and his own ledgers of profit and loss.

GOING TO COLLEGE?
The boy who is now making up his mind that he won't go to college next fall because he hasn't the money, and fears he can't work his way, is probably the boy whom college won't help very much. The "real sport" is the lad who knows he can make his way. He is facing the adventure of college with courage and a smile.

Picnic Season Here Wednesday

Kiddies To Usher In First Big Day Manager Shaner Says

Starting next Wednesday picnics will be ushered in at Cascade Park and will continue until Labor Day, according to Carl Shaner who stated today that warm weather has brought out the crowds of recreation seekers. Basket dinners are being held daily in the park.

Many of the flowers which were placed in the ground froze during the cold snap, he said but additional flowers were replanted and they are now starting to sprout their beauty. Good drinking water is also bringing visitors to the park.

The first picnic will be kiddies day. Rates will be slashed, as it will be the first time that the children will have had a chance to romp since schools were dismissed for the summer vacation yesterday.

Aut Mori Grotto, a Masonic organization of Youngstown, will picnic today and a big crowd is expected here. There will be drills by the Ladies uniformed patrol assisted by the Ladies uniformed drum corps.

On June 17 the New Castle lodge 105, Eastern Star will hold their annual outing and Portersville Sunday school will have their picnic June 17. Shenango chapter, Eastern Star will picnic June 26.

New Castle Alumni will have their annual picnic during the afternoon and night of June 27.

Since Dr. Steen's announcement of No. 3 well containing mineral quality considerable water is being carried away in receptacles according to the manager.

The Glenn bathing pool is the mecca for the swimmers and a recent chemical test shows that the water in the pool is pure enough to drink.

The water, according to Manager Shaner is now being treated chemically in the tank before it reaches the pool. Billy Glenn operates the pool and with warm weather here will prove a sanitary place for swimmers.

One can almost find any sort of amusement from dancing to golfing at the local recreation course which now is in full flight for the summer season.

Where Is Famous Trax Cannon Now?

It's not so many years since there could not have been an encampment like that to be held here next week without Comrade Joseph Trax and his famous cannon playing an important part in the proceedings. Comrade Trax has passed on, but his cannon is believed to be in existence and in this city. It is suggested that it would be a fitting memorial to Comrade Trax to have the cannon brought forth from its place of seclusion, polished up and fired in salute, one more, to the rapidly passing survivors of the Civil War.

Comrade Hamilton Will Ride Horse

Clark B. Hamilton, adjutant of New Castle post No. 100, G. A. R., is one of the most active of the few remaining veterans of the civil war, and as such has been named as an aide in the big parade Wednesday afternoon. It is planned to have the chief marshal and a number of the aides on horseback. Comrade Hamilton is one of the aides designated to ride a horse. He says that he will show the boys that he is good as any of them when it comes to riding a horse.

ENCAMPMENT OF STATE G. A. R. WILL OPEN ON MONDAY

The camp will function in all ways Sunday and Monday and for the balance of the week.

Notables Coming.
Among the notables of the Grand Army of the Republic who will arrive Sunday at The Castle to establish headquarters will be Past Commander in Chief L. F. Arenberg of Pittsburgh, who as his title indicates has been the commander of the entire Grand Army of the Republic, Samuel P. Town of Philadelphia, Assistant Adjutant General, Pennsylvania Department, and R. N. Spohn, chief of staff.

The delegates will arrive here from now on in increasing numbers from all parts of Pennsylvania. While the various allied organizations of the Grand Army of the Republic each have their separate encampment meetings for the transaction of business pertaining to their respective organizations, yet all the activities of the encampment will center about those things in which the few remaining veterans of the civil war are interested and in which they have a part.

For that reason, there are many things in each of the organizations programs for the encampment, which opens formally on Monday and for which many of the delegates will arrive on Sunday, that are in common.

Program Starts.
Most of these allied events occur on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the ballroom of the Cathedral, there will be a reception held for the members of the Grand Army of the Republic and allied organizations.

Past Department Commander Ralph M. Campbell of the Sons of Union Veterans will be master of ceremonies at this event. The Hon. Fred L. Rentz, general chairman, will extend the welcome of the committees to the visitors, while Mayor William H. Gillespie will extend the welcome in behalf of the community. The response will be made by Philip Engelskirger, the Department Commander of the G. A. R.

There will be music, refreshments and dancing for the visitors. One of the features of the evening will be the grand march by the members of the Grand Army of the Republic and others.

Parade Wednesday.
Again at three o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, the various organizations will unite in a general way in the annual encampment parade. This will be an outstanding event, with hundreds of members of the Sons of Veterans Reserve in line, also Troop F, world war veterans, Spanish-American war veterans and also various patriotic and civic organizations of the city.

At 6:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, the Sons of Veterans Reserve will contribute to the interest of the day with an evening parade and drill at Camp Milton Walton, Scotland Lane. The evening of Wednesday will witness the climax of the events in which all organizations join together and the occasion, which is really the most interesting to the veterans of the civil war, namely the annual Campfire.

Campfire Event.
This event is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock that evening and Past Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic L. F. Arenberg will preside.

Included in the campfire program will be a number of presentations arranged for encampment by the various allied organizations. These will include the presentation to the high school of a tablet on which Lincoln's Gettysburg address is inscribed by Mrs. Gladys Everett, Department Patriotic Inspector, on behalf of the Woman's Relief Corps, the presentation of a flag to the boy of the seventh or eighth grade for the best patriotic essay by the Sons of Union Veterans of the civil war, presentation of a flag to one of the public schools by the Auxiliary to the Sons of Union Veterans, presentation of a badge to Department Commander Philip Engelskirger by Chief of Staff R. N. Spohn on behalf of the friends of the department commander and the presentation of a gold watch to Past Department Commander George I. Rudolph.

The program of the Campfire, which will be held in the Cathedral Auditorium and which will be open to the public as well as the delegates will be as follows:—music, the band; prayer, Rev. J. H. Pershing, department chaplain; song, America, welcome on behalf of the community; the Hon. James A. Chambers, welcome on behalf of the general committee; the Hon. Fred L. Rentz, response by the presiding officer, ceremonies by Boy Scouts of America, message to the G. A. R. of the East from the G. A. R. of the West—Comrade Captain Samuel Bell, Remarks—Department Commander Philip Engelskirger, Past Department Officers, and Department Officers. The program will be varied with selections by the band between the numbers of the program.

A bill to admit women to the practice of law was defeated in the assembly of Quebec, Canada, recently by seven votes.

An aqueduct built by the Emperor Hadrian in 130 A. D., to supply Athens with water, recently was repaired by an American company.

Accommodations, Pennsylvania State Encampment, Grand Army of the Republic, New Castle, June 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 1930.

On Forging Ahead

EARLY STRUGGLES.

To use a slang expression, the thing most folks need in this day and age is nerve, plain out 'n' out nerve. I wonder how many of us are familiar with the early existence of John Rockefeller, the billionaire gas-oilne wizard an' philanthropist, how he had to cut out all the sports an' pastimes so dear to boys an' clerk in a general store in his bare feet? We hear very, very little about anybody's early struggles till they succeed, but just the same there's no phase of poverty John A. haint seen. He didn't even have a velocipede or an Indian pony, or a dinner suit. He'd never seen an elephant till he wuz well over 19. One thing that gave Rockefeller a big lift wuz dyspepsia. He couldn't eat much o' anything so he began to save money at an early age. I suppose too that dyspepsia curbed his inclination to step out, an' that saved him many a dime. But John D. had had nerve, too, as well as dyspepsia.

an' his climb wuz rapid. Mrs. Lechorn Tharp has an uncle wile along in years, a Mr. Selam Wingate, whose life story is enough to make a big educated loafer jump in a lake. Selam Wingate's parents fought an' threw things, so his aunt took him over at a sticky tender age. After the usual few fitful years of schoolin', interspersed with jobs which wuz well over an' ruined his contour, he wuz livery stable at fifteen an' studied Greek durin' the dull intervals. At seventeen he'd lifted two mortgages for his aunt an' had given her a Paisley shawl. At nineteen he took over the agency for a rubber collar. At twenty his aunt located him at Urdubana, O., an' took him in till the Grover Cleveland "panic" brightened up. His energy an' optimism wuz on ever' tongue. He believed that what wuz wuz an' what's to be would be postponed. He tried sellin' life insurance, an' would come home in the evenin' whistlin' jest as if he'd sold some. Joinin' the Republican party he became a candidate for the Bloom Center postmastership. No arctic explorer, no lumber jack in the fever stricken Brazilian jungles, no democratic editor, no reformer, no married man, ever went through such a tortuous ordeal. Hounded, bribed, persecuted, double crossed, shot an' wounded, poisoned an' kidnapped, he wuz finally victorious. At the end of his term o' office he'd saved $116. This he invested in a rubber plantation an' returned to the study of Greek. Today, with his gall bladder an' heart both good as new, he's immensely rich, an' after givin' all o' his wives all the money they kin ever hope to see, he's cruisin' in the Orient. Mrs. Lechorn Tharp got a post card from him today sayin' "Hindo wives begin to fade at seven."

Officials May Force Man To Eat Some Food

Frank Davis, Retired Virginia Farmer, Is Slowly Starving Himself To Death.

"TIRED OF LIVING," IS ONLY EXCUSE

(International News Service)
DANVILLE, Va., June 7.—Prompted by public opinion that the authorities should prevent Frank Davis, 58, retired farmer, from carrying out his plan to kill himself by starvation, Commonwealth Attorney P. J. Hundley today instructed Sheriff Charles Murphy to visit the reclusive and submit a report on his self-imposed hunger strike.

Today is the 26th since Davis has eaten any food, he honestly believed and prayed that death would come to him today, figuring that man could not live longer than 26 days without nourishment.

He told callers who are trying to persuade him to take another outlook on life and agree to live, that he is just as determined to "end it all" today as he was when he came to him today, figuring that man could not live longer than 26 days without nourishment.

He has a shotgun, fully loaded, among his possessions, but would not dare to shoot himself, he said, because he believes this would be "morally wrong."

Until today the authorities have been in a quandary as to what to do. The state laws do not rule attempted suicide a crime and Davis appears to be in possession of his faculties, they have initiated no action.

The commonwealth attorney plans to confer with Dr. J. S. DeJarnett, superintendent of the Western State hospital at Staunton, to see if psychiatrists can be sent to examine Davis. If they report he is insane the state could order his removal to the asylum and force him to eat and regain his strength.

A physician who saw the farmer some time ago said he may live perhaps a month longer without food.

Davis is tired of life for he fears the remainder of his years will be spent in illness and pain.

When sugar was first introduced into Europe its only purpose was to make the taste of medicine more pleasant.

Doughtery's Agree Upon Lottery Split

(International News Service)
QUEBEC, June 7.—A new agreement was drawn up and signed Saturday by the battling Doughterys of Brooklyn by means of which the $149,292 prize won on a $1 ticket on the Epsom derby lottery will be split only two ways between the two sons, Eddie Doughtery, 19, and Dannie, 24. This means that the father, Daniel Doughtery, Sr., apartment house doorman, virtually will be left out in the cold.

The senior Doughtery was bent upon taking over all the money when news first came that Eddie's ticket had won the lottery. But when Eddie, and Dannie as well, emitted a loud squawk the father agreed to a three way split. When the trio went from Brooklyn to Quebec to obtain the money the three way agreement was broken by Eddie and the father announced he would employ an attorney to protect his "rights."

However, when the senior Doughtery learned late last night that his second wife, Mrs. Margaret Doughtery, Sr., laundress of Brooklyn, intended coming forward to claim her dower rights and of the further intimation that she planned suing him for non-support, he executed a right-about-face and became very docile.

Senator Walsh Says That Bishop Cannon Committed Contempt

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 7.—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., who defied the Senate Lobby committee and walked out on it, is "clearly in contempt of the Senate," in the opinion of Senator Thomas J. Walsh (D) of Montana, acting chairman of the committee.

"Bishop Cannon is exactly in the same position as a witness before any court who has been sworn and then leaves the stand without permission," said Walsh. "I don't intend to wage any newspaper controversy with his bishop Cannon, but quorum or no quorum he is in contempt."

May Weather Is Driest In Years

Local River Stage During Past Month Was Four Feet Under That of May, 1929.

Temperature Shows Increase Above Normal Despite Cold Spell Last of Month.

General weather conditions during the month of May were far from normal, according to the monthly summary, completed by the local Weather Observer.

The mean maximum temperature during the month was 74.6 degrees, while the mean minimum was 48.4 degrees, the mean average for the month being 61.5. This was 1.3 degrees above the normal. The maximum for the month was 90 degrees, which was reached May 10 and 12, while the coldest was on Memorial Day, when the mercury dropped to 30 degrees. The greatest daily range was 41 degrees on May 26. Killing frosts were noted on May 26 and 30.

The total precipitation for the month was 2.6 inches, a deficiency from the normal of 62 inches. The greatest fall in 24 hours was on May 20th, when 1.1 inches fell, almost half of the total amount recorded during the month. The number of days on which 61 inches or more of rain fell was 17. There were 15 clear days, 10 partly cloudy and six cloudy.

In May 1929, weather conditions were vastly different. The temperature a year ago was 3.4 degrees below normal and 4.27 inches of rain fell, .97 inches more than the normal. The river stage during May of 1929 averaged 8.7 feet, while in May 1930 it was only 4.8 feet, a difference of 4.3 feet.

Zeppelin Will Be Made Ready For New Flight

Graf Zeppelin Being Made Ready For Series Of Summer Voyages.

TWO SEA TRIPS ALSO PLANNED

(International News Service)
FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, June 7.—Home less than twenty hours from an 18,000 mile tour which embraced three continents and involved two trans-Atlantic crossings, the giant German dirigible Graf Zeppelin was being groomed today for new conquests of time and space.

Within a few weeks the huge dirigible will start on the first of a series of summer cruises, most of them over Europe. At least two sea trips will be made, one to the Canaries and the other to the Cape Verde Islands.

No ill effects from the giant craft showed that it had suffered no ill effects from the tri-continental journey, which ended when the Graf returned here last evening, three weeks after the start.

Passengers who made the return trip from Pernambuco and Lakhurst, N. J., by way of Seattle, described the terrific storms which delayed the Zeppelin for many hours on the home journey. The Graf ducked storms and buffeting winds all the way across France and Switzerland after being delayed more than twelve hours in reaching Seattle because of bad weather off the mainland. The travelers said the storm over the Rhone Valley was the worst the Graf had ever encountered.

At times the ship was forced down to within 400 feet of the earth, the next minute being shot toward the skies at lightning speed. Tables and dishes were hurled around the cabin in hopeless confusion, but none of the passengers was any the worse for the adventure.

Prince Carol May Return As Ruler Of Rumania

Rumanian Cabinet Convenes To Decide Procedure If Prince Carol Returns

BOY KING WOULD BE MADE HEIR

Mme. Magda Lupescu and Prince Carol Reach Parting Of Ways, Is Report.

(International News Service)
BUCHAREST, June 7.—The Rumanian cabinet, convened here today to decide whether to appoint former Crown Prince Carol, who returned here from exile last night, to succeed his brother, Prince Nicholas, on the regency, or rescind Carol's renunciation of right of succession and make him king.

The latter procedure was viewed in official circles as the most likely. His son, the present boy King Michael, would become his heir.

Carol renounced his right to succession to the throne on December 31, 1925, and, since that time, he has lived in exile, mostly in France.

Seeks Reconciliation
A few days ago he separated from Mme. Magda Lupescu, for whom he gave up his right to the Rumanian throne. Word of his separation and reports of a possible reconciliation, mother of his son, the boy King Michael, were the most recent indications that Prime Minister Dr. Julius Maniu was working towards the recall of Carol to take his rightful place in his homeland.

The deputies and senators have been kept informed of the progress of secret negotiations which have been conducted between the government and Carol. The national assembly probably will meet Monday to act on the cabinet's recommendation.

News of Carol's return spread quickly through the capital. Crowds filled the streets early in the morning and groups everywhere were discussing Carol's sensational return with pleased expressions on their faces.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

Business of correspondents crying for space. All right, here it is! "Dear Miss Allard: "I'm tired of hearing about these snappy bachelors. If they can cook so well, let them keep on cooking for themselves, and if they can keep house so beautifully, very well, let 'em do it. I notice when a man marries he boasts about his cooking, but try to get 'em to wash a dish! If they do cook it doesn't taste like anything to anyone but themselves, and then the wife has to wash the pots and pans. And there are four times as many as she'd use to cook the same things."

"I know bachelors, have 'em as friends of the family and I'm married to a man who batched for seven years while I was trying to forget his faults. Now I am cooking his three a day and listening to what a swell cook he was for those seven years! Bunk! They are all bunk, no matter what they are telling you. And believe me if the man who is SMART falls for the "dumb" flapper, he does all the work and cooking 'just to show her how to do it'. And the wise little girl, who has something behind the ears, is 'letting Daddy have a good time'. YES she is! (Signed) "One who is smart enough to PLAY DUMB."

Waukegan, Ill.

"Dear Miss Allard: "I read your stuff and it's great, but there is a big question. I've been the innocent bystander, and I've listened to both sides of arguments, and by golly, after studying them I have concluded that men get the better of it most often. Men do not believe in sacrificing to any great extent. They do not believe in going 50-50. They figure it out 20-80 in their favor. A man gets away with it unless he happens to marry one a little wiser than himself. I'm not a disgruntled wife. I have a peach of a he-man husband who agrees with me in this. But golly, I wish you would round off your tongue or you will have all the married men going around looking for sympathy and weeping about themselves. I suppose I'm old enough to be your grandmother. I do not take offense and I like your column and I won't get mad even if you rip me up the back. Usually I agree with you. Mrs. P. M. L.

You see, Mrs. L. has a "peach of a husband" and he agrees with her. They are always peaches when they agree yith you.

You said you wouldn't get mad, now don't!

Sixty Feet Of Cement Is Laid

Work On New Bridge On Ellwood Road Is Now Progressing Rapidly

Sixty feet of pavement has been laid toward the approach to the new bridge on the Ellwood Road near Cascade Park, and this strip will probably be open for traffic today or tomorrow. It was said three days ago between East Washington street and the entrance to the old detour. While the cement has been setting, a constant flow of one way traffic has been travelling over the newly constructed bridge.

The contractors have been experiencing considerable trouble in controlling the traffic. Instead of stopping when flagged, a number of motorists have driven right ahead and onto the one way road, thus creating confusion and blocking traffic.

State police are allowing no parking along the highway, anywhere within a long distance from the construction work.

As soon as the 60 foot pavement is thrown open to traffic, the old detour will again be in use, while the contractors pave the bridge.

Highland Church To Have Children's Day

At the Sabbath School hour in Highland United Presbyterian church Sunday the children of the primary and junior departments will present a Children's Day program.

A short Pentecostal program will also be presented during the Sabbath School hour, with all departments of the school taking part in this.

Dr. C. J. Williamson, pastor of the church, who has just returned from the meeting of the General Assembly in Des Moines, Iowa, will preach the Pentecostal sermon at the 11 o'clock service and the congregation will join in the Cathedral service in the evening.

Foster's Weather Forecast

WASHINGTON, June 7, 1930.—Storm wave of moderate force expected to cross continent during week centering on June 5, will move down to central transcontinental storm path and cause the greatest temperature extremes of month. General cool waves are expected both preceding and following this storm center; cool wave centering on 9, which will follow storm wave centering on 5, will be expected to cause rather severe frosts in the far north and hail in spring wheat belt. After center of this cool wave has passed over your vicinity temperatures are expected to move to higher average levels and period 12 to 29 will be expected to average above normal temperatures generally over the continent. June is expected to average above normal temperatures for the month for the continent, with greatest heat occurring near 20, as the sun passes almost directly between sun and Saturn. Dangerous storms are expected in northern hemisphere during periods June 18 to July 3 and July 10 to 21; storms during these two periods will be more severe than usual in northern, on central Pacific slope, in southern Great Central valleys and in vicinity of St. Lawrence valley. These storms are expected to center (reach 90th meridian) near June 20 and 27, July 2, 12 and 16.

Storm wave of moderately severe force is expected to cross continent in northern path during week centering on June 12. This will be a warm storm center, and is expected to be the starting of the best growing period of season. It will also be a comparatively dry storm center, precipitation being confined to heavy local rains occurring mostly in eastern and southern Great Central valleys and along north Atlantic coast. June 7 to 19 will be the best average period for outdoors work and pleasure; the best period for auto trips and other outdoor ventures.

Planetary Influence
One of the Newtonian theories that has never been disturbed is his thesis on the movement of force between two bodies, whether those bodies be within the earth's atmosphere or a part of our solar system. The Newton theory places the strength and movement of such a force according to the size of the bodies involved and the square of the distance they are apart. Our newly discovered planet, now called Pluto, God of the underworld, a name that should not be tied to this peaceable little fellow so far out in space, is so small and so far away that the force moving between our sun and Pluto would be little more than that moving between our sun and some of the larger stars or suns. Pluto's attraction for Neptune may be calculated with some degree of accuracy, but it must be remembered that Neptune is a small planet compared with Jupiter and Saturn, and that he is nearly three billion miles from the sun.

Dr. L. C. Denise Will Speak In Central Church On Sunday

The Central Presbyterian church has planned a great Go-To-Church Day for tomorrow at 11 a. m. The elders have personally invited all members through their groups to be in attendance as it is desirable that a full attendance of all members at the morning service.

The great attraction for the 1900th anniversary of Pentecost is the coming of a distinguished guest preacher, Rev. Larimore C. Denise, D. D., president of Omaha Theological seminary. His subject will be "The Growth and Power of the Christian Church".

The evening service in the church will be dispensed with so the congregation may join in the Cathedral service.

Making a good speech isn't difficult. You just think up a snappy beginning and a clever ending and see that nothing keeps them apart.

Darn it! Now they've got so balled up they'll have to put on another war to see which kind of cruisers each nation needs.

Scout Camp Opens For Younger Boys June 16

Lads Under 12 To Enjoy Week's Outing Before Regular Period Begins

CAMP PERSONNEL NOW COMPLETED

"Now the Four-way Lodge is opened, now the Hunting Winds are loose—
Now the Smokes of Spring go up to clear the brain:
Now the Young Men's hearts are troubled for the whisper of the Trues,
Now the Red Gods make their medicine again.

"Who hath smelt wood-smoke at twilight? Who hath heard the birch-log burning?
Who is quick to read the noises of the night?
Let him follow with the others,—
For the Young Men's feet are turning
To the camps of proved desire and known delight."

And as Kipling sang this lay of the restlessness, which seizes boys and men alike, so today do leaders of boyhood the country over prepare for that great outdoor institution known as the Boy Scout camp. This movement has far and away the largest number of boys in camp of any in the world, both in point of total numbers and also in size of individual camps. Over 114,000 different scouts were in camps last year. 255 scout councils own camp property valued at $4,041,473. Last year 23,000 non-swimmers learned to swim in scout camps. And so it goes all over the land—more and more boys finding out the way to "be prepared" for the fall school terms in to build up an abundant reserve of vitality and vigor through attendance at such a camp.

Picturesque Camp Here
The Lawrence County scout council is fortunate in its camp property and leadership. It owns fifty-seven acres of rolling land on the Slippery Rock creek at what was formerly known as Kennedy's Mill, that site now being named Camp John M. Phillips, after a prominent scoutmaster and nature lover of the Pittsburgh council. Mr. Phillips has served scouting since its inception in this country.

Leadership is also a strong point at Camp Phillips. The camping committee of the council, headed by L. B. Round has given much time and thought to the work and program. All adult leaders are thoroughly trained in their respective lines. Volunteer leadership, picked from the scout troops themselves, is made up mostly of high rank scouts; there being three Eagle, five Life and three Star rank scouts in the lineup.

The camp commissary will be well taken care of this year. Mrs. Rohrig of Westminster College will bring her experience in boys' dormitory cooking, and Mrs. W. A. Hanna of the George Washington junior high cafeteria will assist in this department. Mrs. Taylor, dietitian of George Washington cafeteria will see that menus are properly balanced for caloric content, etc., and one week's menus have already been worked out as a basis.

No Dull Minutes
Camp activities will be along the same general lines as in past seasons, though the executive will spend much time at camp observing the present program and noting possible improvements of changes which may seem desirable. The national council's standard camp accounting system will also be put into operation so that all camp money may be accounted for in detail. Camp courts of honor will be held each Friday evening so that scouts who earn advancements while at camp, will be recognized in their new ranks and be promoted while at camp.

Reservations are beginning to come in at a good rate now, and as soon as each boy is sure of the dates he can attend he makes his reservations. The younger boy period opens Monday, June 16, and the scout period start June 23. Reservations should be sent to the local scout headquarters in the Greer building.

Why worry who a West Pointer resigns before completing his eight years of service? The Army doesn't want men who feel that way about contracts.

Lift Suspension For Von Porat

Von Porat And Stribling Will Battle In Chicago On June 18

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, June 7.—Otto Von Porat's "six month suspension" dwindled down to less than twenty four hours Friday when the Illinois boxing commission lifted the ban following manager Ed Stevenson's acceptance of a June 18 date at the Chicago stadium with Young Stribling.

The ring board slammed the suspension on the Chicago heavyweight Thursday afternoon when it decided he had violated an agreement with the stadium. After a conference with officials of the sports Palace, manager Stevenson announced that he would go through with the scrap contingent on the commission lifting the suspension. This was done at a special meeting.

Authority Discusses Cancer

Dr. Joseph Colt Bloodgood, professor of clinical surgery, Johns Hopkins university, famous surgeon and international authority on cancer, will be the guest speaker for the Lawrence County Medical society, June 13th at the New Castle Club.

Dr. Bloodgood has written a series of articles for the press on cancer, the first of which follows and one will appear in these columns each day for five days.

ARTICLE IV
Cancer of the Stomach.

We are rapidly learning that the danger of cancer of the stomach is still greater than any other internal cancer that is accessible and curable by operation. Thus due to the fact that indigestion, or any type of discomfort in the region of the upper abdomen where the stomach is situated, is so common in all adult ages that the majority of people pay no attention to the lesser types which get well of themselves, or other forms which are not dangerous and may go on for years. For this reason, cancer in the beginning has the same symptoms as all other conditions which are not cancer, there is usually delay. In 1915, the majority of the clinics of the world found that 90 per cent of their patients suffering with ed his year, has returned home to spend the summer with his parents. Mrs. Mary Crawford of Poland is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. William Chaney.

BESSEMER

Earl Ruehle, a graduate of W. & J., returned to his home here Wednesday.

Rev. W. J. Engle filled the pulpit at Silgo, Pa., on Sunday, June 1.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Winters spent the week-end at the latter's home at Fredonia, N. Y.

of the class speaking on "Crime—the Adult" was first to speak after the invocation. "What we need for our criminals," Miss Matthews went on to say, "is a more rapid moving and a more certain justice. Too many of our laws are indefinitely stated and provide easy loopholes for the violator."

The crime condition in general was dwelt upon at length by the speaker. In closing she said three things are vitally necessary if we are to effectively combat crime. "First, foreigners must be taught to respect our laws; second, the best men must be elected to our public offices; and third, our system of justice must be more expeditious. Shall punishment fit the crime or shall it fit the criminal," she concluded.

Dr. E. Clyde Xander, president of the college, Greenville, was then presented to the audience. Superintendent of Schools, C. C. Green introduced him, stating that their speaker is known far and wide as a scholar, a college executive and a public speaker.

In his opening remarks, Dr. Xander acknowledged his gratitude to the class in being chosen to deliver their address. He explained that to him it is a privilege to be with the senior high school at such a happy time.

"I am glad to be here," the college president continued, "to say a word or two for your splendid educational system. I want to say that it is a compliment to the townpeople as a whole. Thirty or so miles from here I watch the developments that occur here, and I am proud to come here as a commencement speaker."

Discusses Youth

While Dr. Xander announced no definite subject, he said that he had deeply enjoyed the address of the salutatorian who spoke before him, especially the subject and the treatment it was given. He said it is most appropriate that we discuss our youth tonight.

"It is sometimes thought that money put into education is money spent, but this is never the case. There was never a dollar spent on education. Every dollar placed into educational work is an investment—and always brings you something in return.

"You, parents and friends of these graduates, have made an investment in young manhood and womanhood. Tonight your rich returns are coming back—returns which will continue to grow."

"The greatest asset of any people is its youth, and when people invest the youth of their land that investment will increase a thousand fold."

Dr. Xander then launched into a discussion of the remarkable strides which education has made in our country of recent times. He termed progressive education as the richest contribution to our land.

Educational Progress

Three outstanding points were taken up and each one discussed at length.

Said the college head: "First, and above all we must inculcate in our youth a fine sense of justice. This largely comes from the faculty of the school and others who have given their heart and soul to the work of education."

"Secondly, youth must be independent in character. Education is not merely something gleaned from books. I would call educated that person who can make proper judgments—say no when he should say no, and yes when he should say yes.

"Thirdly, youth must cultivate a proper civic and social culture. Here Dr. Xander took issue with the critics of our youth and said that the fine youth far outrank the bad.

"Newspapers play up the doings of the 10 per cent who are bad but not the activities of the better youth. I don't condemn the newspapers for this, he said, but I place the blame on you who are fathers and mothers—on you who make up the reading public of our land. I blame you for permitting this, he said. I know that newspapers must print the news that you demand, and as long as you demand it newspapers will continue to print it."

When Dr. Xander had finished, and at the interval between his address and the presentations of special awards, George Freeman, member of the graduating class played two violin numbers "Allegro Maestoso from Concerto No. VII. Ch. de Beriot" and "Adoration" by Borowski. He was accompanied by Miss Julia Sidley.

RUTH MERVIS (Salutatorian)

Present Awards

Mrs. Frances Simonton, representing the Lawrence chapter of the D. A. R. then presented to Merle Hart, a golden American eagle for general excellence in United States history during his high school course.

Frederick Taylor, another graduate was presented the Business and Professional Women's Club for general excellence in English. It was presented by Miss Nancy Bechtel president of the club.

Speaking next was Miss Ruth Mervis, salutatorian. While the salutatorian discussed "Crime—the Adult" Miss Mervis took "Crime—the Adolescent" as her theme. Juvenile delinquency in every phase as mentioned and at the beginning she asked, "What has caused the wholesale increase in delinquency?"

Methods used in different cities in their attempt to combat the situation were explained, among which were the workings of the George Junior Republic. One way now in the laboratory stage is where teachers work in co-operation with juvenile court officials in the investigation of individual cases.

After the valedictory had been given, Superintendent Green spoke briefly. As a feature of his remarks he presented to Miss Margaret Thomas, senior high girl the $20 in gold which she won by placing first in the American Chemical society's essay contest in the state of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Green told of what the recipient would be eligible to compete for, and added that it is not as significant for Miss Thomas as it is for the senior high school. The same honor has been brought to the local high school for five consecutive years.

"Judges of the contest do not know whose papers they are reading," said Dr. Green, "and I am satisfied it is no coincidence. None of the essays bear the names of the writers."

Miss Thomas will also receive an attractive certificate.

Presents Diplomas

At this point of the program, Dr. Green introduced President Woolcock, who presented the diplomas to the seniors as they filed across the stage. Before making the presentations Mr. Woolcock challenge the graduates to continue their good work.

When the last diploma had been presented, Rev. Joshua pronounced the benediction.

Sixty one of the graduates last night received diplomas from the academic course; 13 from the technical; 43 from the commercial and 92 from the general course.

Ellwood City Commencement Service Held

Dr. W. C. Wallace Makes Fine Address At Commencement Exercises Held Last Night

Hundred Forty Eight Members Of Ellwood City High School Receives Diplomas

ELLWOOD CITY, June 7.—Urging them to make the best of the opportunities and possibilities of life, Dr. W. C. Wallace, president of Westminster college, made the commencement address to 148 members of the graduating class of the Ellwood City high school Friday evening in the Lincoln auditorium, filled to capacity for the occasion.

Dr. Wallace stated that our problem in life is to seek out opportunities and not to have them seek us, and that the greatest principle of human life is the resolve to do things worth while. He stated that it is our duty to seek out what is right and that when one says his duty was not clear his hearing is dull.

Dr. Wallace pointed out that the individuals' greatest success is the ability to serve God and humanity. The address by Dr. Wallace came directly before the presentation of diplomas to the graduates by Dr. H. E. Helling, president of the Board of Education and followed a program of considerable merit.

The invocation for the services was asked by Rev. Bert Williams. Orations were given by two scholastically high ranking members of the graduating class, Elodia Barberio, who gave the salutatory address, "The Value of an Educated Person to the Community," and Marie McKim, who gave the valedictory address "At the Crossroads."

Donald Cloak played a trombone solo and several numbers were given by the Girls' Chorus. The music was under the direction of Paul Winters, music supervisor of the schools.

NEW YORK STOCKS
Selling Wave Engulfs Stock Market Today

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, June 7.—A sharp and decisive selling wave engulfed the stock market in the early trading today, forcing prices of the active stocks from 2 to 5 points lower and pushing a number of the prominent issues to the lowest levels of the year.

Yesterday's bear raid on the speculative leaders weakened the market to such an extent that margin holdings were forced on the market in large volume in the first hour. Selling orders poured into the market as stocks slumped with little sign of a rally and the ticker once more fell hopelessly behind.

Fresh weakness in United States Steel, which sold under 165 for the first time this year, losing nearly 3 points at 164 1/2, was

West Side Has Best Record

Every Boy And Girl In School Receives Award For Thrift

RECOGNITION IS GIVEN ON FRIDAY

The West Side school was 100% in thrift and at the special thrift exercises that were held at the school building, every boy and girl in the school received an award of some kind depending upon the number of years saved. This is a very remarkable record and shows a splendid co-operation between the school principal, the teachers, pupils and the parents. This is the second year they have achieved this record and such an example of systematic saving could hardly be found in any other school in the country.

All of the grades received 100% certificates, signed by the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company, the superintendent of schools and the principal of the West Side school.

The principal of the West Side school for the past year has been R. G. Leslie and the teachers are: Alice Warner, Kindergarten; Sophia Louer, 1-A; E. There seems to be no limit to the inventive genius of the American engineer. No sooner do we get used to one marvel than another one is out and by now we're ready to believe that anything is possible. Saw a demonstration last night of the "Electric Eye", one of the newest things developed in the laboratory of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, and customers don't think the engineer has been drinking when you read some of the things it does.

The demonstration was a part of the program of the Shenango Tin Mill Foremen's Club program last night, and you can imagine held the interest of the members. As the guests walked up the stairs they noticed a flash of light when they got to the top, a little click, and they were counted. No hands had touched the counter; all that had happened was that each fellow had passed the electric eye and it registered.

The explanation of it is that there was a small light set on one level post and this shone into a lens on the other side. This lens in turn intensified the beam of light as it threw it back into a grid glow tube. Any person passing through the beam of light broke it, and the minute it was broken the grid glow tube closed circuit and this in turn operated the electric counter and electric light.

Another piece of apparatus sorted out some cakes of yeast. The ones with the wrapper right side up went through the conveyor belt. The ones put on wrong side up were discarded, all because the electric eye had seen they were on wrong. Still another demonstration was with a small fire. As the smoke curled up through the beam of light it broke the beam, the circuit closed and this set off a cartridge of carbon dioxide, which smothered the fire.

The electric eye detects differences in colors far above and below the range of the human eye. It detects the infra red and the ultra violet rays, and one machine will match cloth far closer than even your wife could do.

It was a remarkable demonstration, one that left the crowd amazed. And from now on I'll believe that anything is possible in the way of electric apparatus.

Heard a small boy's description of harmony in color design last night. Teacher asked him to give a description of what he thought was a perfect harmony and he replied, "a freak, face-faded girl wearing a polka dot dress, leading a graife."

Another fish tale, this time from Taylor Run. Lad named Brennehan from Ellwood City lifted out a 15-inch trout weighing one and a quarter pounds. Which isn't bad for trout.

Lot of cars and green fezzes around the Cathedral last night. The Catholics were tossing their annual spring party (stag) and the boys seemed satisfied as usual. A little later the ladies will have their evening, according to the chief Caliph, Howard B. Richards (no relation) so if you were there last night and the wife objected, remind her of the coming ladies' night.

The ticket sale for the night mushball game and athletic show for the benefit of the Jameson Memorial hospital is under way. The price is 25 cents per copy and as many to a customer as he wants. There's another nice thing about this ticket sale, anybody can be a salesman by applying. Nothing snooty about this affair, you're all invited, and everybody inside the fence on the night of June 27th will have a ticket. Even the umpire.

A gift of $100 by the New Castle Dry Goods company to the G. A. R. Encampment committee is reported today by Finance Chairman R. L. Meermans. It is among the most liberal gifts of the business houses of the city.

Another veteran organization is also reported today as having given most splendidly to the fund, it being none other than Daniel Leasure Camp, No. 24, United Spanish War Veterans. This gift amounted to $50. Other gifts reported today are as follows: Butz Brothers, $10; Castle Stationery company, $5; Elliott and Waddington, $10; Walter W. Duff, $5; Thomas D. Wilson, $5; Beulah Wilson, $5; John Newman, $5.

Other gifts may be sent to Mr. Meermans at the Y. M. C. A. All checks should be made out to D. D. Valensi, financial secretary, G. A. R. Encampment committee.

Pledges Should Be Paid At Once

Expenditures By G. A. R. Encampment Committee Must Be Started at Once

While a great percentage of the gifts to the G. A. R. Encampment Fund have been in cash, there is a considerable amount that was in the nature of pledges.

These pledges should be paid at once to R. L. Meermans, chairman of the finance committee, as expenditures have already been started and all the available money must be on hand to meet the expenses as they occur.

It is planned and hoped that by the time the encampment is over, that practically all expenses will have been approved and the funds pledged made available for the immediate payment of the bills incurred.

Those whose gifts are as yet unpaid will be conferring a favor on those in charge of the affair by immediately paying the amounts promised. All money should be in the hands of the treasurer not later than Monday.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

BEFORE HER TONSIL OPERATION Entered the doctors with grins on their faces. There is nothing so gleeful for doctors as cases.

As for me I can laugh at a feast or a wedding. But a surgical job is a subject for dreading.

And since 'twas her tonsils they'd dig for awhile at I couldn't discover what they saw to smile at.

I looked at their gowns and I felt my face paling But the grins on their faces showed no signs of failing.

"Well how is the patient?" said they In a steady And musical voice mother answered: "I'm ready!"

Still further I fancy my nerve to unsettle They rattled their instruments round in a kettle.

They said: "We'll be done in ten minutes or less time. We're using a local, but running express time."

I shrieked as I fled in affright through the doorway "I can make fun in my way, but never in your way!"

In a short time they shouted: "There's no need to slay us! Nell's tonsils are out! You can come back and pay us!" (Copyright, 1930, Edgar A. Guest)

Nearly Two Hundred Tents At Camp Milton Walton

Like mushrooms springing up after a summer night's rain, the tents of Camp Milton Walton are rising in Scotland Lane, on the area just west of the Union High school. White and glistening against the sun they form a pretty picture, and by Saturday afternoon it is anticipated that the 150 tents for enlisted men and 50 tents for officers will be in place, ready for the opening exercises Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

For one week the area will be a tented city, peopled by the Sons of Veterans Reserves who are holding their annual encampment coincident with the annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. For one week the Sons of Veterans will live as a military unit, under canvas, under military discipline, answering calls and drilling as though they were in camp.

Camp Rising Quickly The camp is taking shape fast. Men of the P-O Electric company have installed light poles, telephones are installed in the officers quarters, water lines have been laid, and the canvas is rising as rapidly as the men can get it up.

The officers tents are located along the lane just west of the school building with the tents of the enlisted personnel running north and south in street formations. North of the school building will be located the mess tent, the officers mess tent, the kitchen, and the canteen. The work is under the supervision of Captain C. L. Stout, of Reading, Pa., brigade engineer.

Five regiments will comprise the brigade of Sons of Veterans who will occupy Camp Milton Walton. Listed in these will be infantry, line companies, headquarter and supply companies, medical detachments, a field artillery unit, and the various detachments necessary to such a camp.

All "A" Wall Tents It was first thought possible to get pyramidal squad tents for the encampment but this was impossible and "A" wall tents are being used for the companies. The officers have "A" wall tents, with flaps in front and board floors.

The camp site is located just 2 miles from the city in Scotland Lane. One can get to it either by West Washington street or by going out the Youngstown road. There is no need for detailed directions from either road as the tents will show for miles.

Sunday afternoon the opening exercises of the brigade will open at 2:00 o'clock p. m., with Col. Edwin John Prittie of Philadelphia in charge. From then on the camp will be run on a military schedule. Starting with first call at 6:00 a. m., the camp will move on schedule time with bugle calls announcing each activity, ending at 11:30 o'clock each night when taps will be blown.

The camp will probably attract thousands of visitors for it will be the first camp of its kind seen here in many years.

The most Powerful Six in its price class

The big engine of the new Willys Six develops 65 horsepower, with speed of 72 miles an hour in high and 48 miles an hour in second. Such brilliant performance is unprecedented in the low-priced field. Other impressive advantages of the Willys Six include four double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, rubber mounting of engine and fully enclosed four-wheel brakes. And only in cars of much higher price would you expect to find such beauty of design and interior luxury.
